Dr. Solin Heads Organization Mitchell Is Liaison Officer

The Royal Canadian Air Force in keeping with its policy of enlargement has recently announced the formation of a University Auxiliary Flight at McGill University. The organization of this Flight, the Air Force counterpart of the Army COTC and the Navy UNTD has already commenced and it is anticipated that Headquarters will shortly be established on the campus. Similar Flights are being created at various other universities throughout Canada.

Dr. C. D. Solin of the Mathematics Department and a former member of the RCAF has been appointed to head this new organization with the rank of Squadron Leader and Flight Lieutenant S. S. Mitchell of the RCAF will act as Liaison Officer between McGill and the Air Force.

Flight members will be enlisted primarily from first and second year students and will hold the rank of Flight Cadet. During the summer months they will be employed by the RCAF and given flying or technical training at Air Force units throughout Canada. During the regular university session training will take the form of weekly lectures dealing with all phases of the RCAF including administration, airman'ship, armament, navigation, etc. This program will be carried out over a three-year period at the end of which and contingent upon his graduation from the University, the cadet will be offered a commission in the permanent RCAF or may join an Auxiliary or Reserve unit.

The first intake is scheduled to take place almost immediately with the first phase of the program going into effect this summer. A meeting for all those interested will be held in the very near future both at McGill and Dawson College at which time complete details will be furnished on all matters pertaining to the Flight including rank, rates of pay, training, mess facilities, etc. The time and the place of this meeting will appear in the "Daily." All those interested in the above are asked to watch the "Daily" for further developments to be announced shortly.

COSMO CLUB

An informal dance will be held for all members and their friends Saturday at eight in the Union grillroom. The program will feature refreshments and beauty parlour-barbershop quartet competitions. Admission will be 25c stag, 35c a couple.

Kirkconnell Denies He Made Statement Calling McGill "Red"

In a letter to the presidents of the Student Councils at McGill and the University of Toronto, Dr. Watson Kirkconnell, president of Acadia University denied that he had described McGill and Toronto as "hotbeds of Communism."

The McGill Daily and the Toronto Varsity recently criticized Dr. Kirkconnell both for this remark which he was alleged to have made in Halifax and for an article he wrote for the Jan. 18 issue of the weekly "Saturday Night."

"In no public address have I ever criticized any Canadian university in any terms whatever, and even in private conversation I have not been guilty of the alleged phraseology," Dr. Kirkconnell declared in his letter.

He declared that a "bogus press despatch" attributing the "hotbeds of Communism" remark to him had been sent from Halifax, giving the impression that he had used the words in a public address, resulted from a "brief chance encounter with a young journalist in a Halifax corridor."

"He asked me if Toronto and McGill were hotbeds of Communism," said Dr. Kirkconnell. "I replied that while some Communists had long been active on both campuses and Communist L.P.P. clubs were openly organized at six Canadian universities (McGill, Toronto, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and U.B.C.) I questioned whether more than two per cent of the students were involved in any instance, and I urged him, if he wanted an authentic version, to consult a recent issue of Saturday Night, in which I had quoted from the Communists' own documentation on the subject."

Dr. Kirkconnell's complete letter is on page two of today's Daily.

Enthusiasm Is Displayed in Book Campaign

The student response to the "March of Books" Campaign is already greater than expected, it was reported to the Daily last night. Books are flowing into the Union Tuck Shop in such numbers that a serious housing problem threatens the L.S.S. Committee, which is handling the campus collection in the Campaign.

Arrangements are being made, however, to store all volumes in the Union basement, and students are assured that each donation will be forwarded to the campaign headquarters before the end of the month.

The "March of Books" Drive, sponsored by the Canadian Council for Reconstruction Through UNESCO and the Canadian Library Association, is the second project to assist in the intellectual reconstruction of the peoples in areas

. . . At Professors' Teas

Shown above is an anonymous professor demonstrating an anonymous object to an anonymous group who nevertheless seem to be enjoying themselves at a Professors' Tea which was held in 1945.

Dean Fieldhouse has accepted an invitation to attend the tea being held this Saturday afternoon February 5, from four to six. On being interviewed by a Daily reporter, he expressed the opinion that these teas provided an excellent opportunity for students and professors to get together in an informal atmosphere to discuss various problems which arise during the school year.

As this Professors' tea will be the last one held this year, it is hoped that the students will take advantage of this last chance to become better acquainted with their professors. There will be professors representing nearly every department in Arts and Science present.

Free refreshments will be served from four until six in the McGill Union Reading Room. Jackie Beaudoin and Leticia Ariola will be in charge.

House Committee Denies Union to LPP

Dawson Key Wears Blue

The Dawson Key, St. John's own version of the Scarlet Key, is composed of 20 boys from all faculties, and are led by a liaison officer, Cliff Jones, second year Engineering student at Dawson.

Formerly, this position was held by Bob Little, who was elected to the Society last year and to his former post this fall. However, because of the pressure of his studies, Bob was forced to resign, and his position was taken over by Cliff Jones.

The boys, seen about the campus in their blue blazers with the Key crest of a capital "D" and a key inserted through it, perform much the same duties as their confreres at McGill. In their capacity as social and welcoming committees of the campus, they are responsible for running the movies every Tuesday and Friday night, the dances, the next one to be held on Jan. 28, and aiding at other events which take place on the campus.

The Key's value to the college was warmly expressed in a vote of thanks tendered to it and the retiring liaison officer, by the Students Executive Council at their last meeting.

Dr. H. Dorkin To Address Psychologists

President Bob Shulman of the McGill Psychology Club has announced the Club's program of activities for the current term.

First, a meeting has been planned for the night of Feb. 7th, to take place in the New Room of the Union at 8.15 p.m. The guest speaker will be Dr. H. Dorkin, who is at present Clinical Psychologist at the Verdun Protestant Hospital. Dr. Dorkin, a graduate of McGill, will speak on: "A career in Clinical Psychology." The meeting is in the form of a gen night, and all those who have contemplated entering the field of Clinical Psychology are urged to attend.

Other activities planned for the Club are visits to the Verdun Hospital and the Allan Memorial Institute. The visit to the Hospital will take place on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 9th, while the members of the Club will visit the Allan on Friday afternoon, Feb. 18th, at 4 p.m. Only those who have paid their membership fees will be eligible for the two visits.

A social invitation is issued to all Undergraduates interested in Psychology to take part in the Club's activities. In this way it is hoped that many students will become familiar with the importance of Psychology and its function in the modern world.

Murder Play At Dawson On Feb. 8-10

Going into the final week of rehearsals, the Dawson production, Murder With Orchids, is gradually rounding into shape in preparation for the opening night on Feb. 8, and for next two nights, when it will also be performed.

Under the capable supervision of director Ron Lennie, and his assistant Mrs. Agnes Arlick, the play promises to be one of the best ever held in the Dawson Theatre.

The play deals with a wealthy and miserly banker Addison Kincaid and his stubborn refusal to a proposed marriage between his step-daughter, Clarice, and a Cub reporter, Clark Benton, which results in a number of murders. A country sheriff then appears on the scene, and his frustrated attempts to solve the mysteries, result in a night of laughter for the audience.

A last minute change was made in the cast last week, when Moe Gordon took over the roll of Marvin, the villain of the play. Mr. Gordon has had previous experience having taken an active part in the productions of The Senior Drama Group of Boston, under the direction of Miss M. I. Wrong.

MOC Party in Union Friday

On February the 4th at 8:00 p.m. the McGill Outing Club will be holding a party in the Union Ballroom. Ski films and a camcraft film will be shown. One of these movies, which is in technicolour, is "Ski Pros' Holiday." The second will be a surprise. The third, entitled "Woodsmen's Weekend", was taken by one of the Dartmouth professors last spring when the MOC sent a group to Dartmouth for the Intercollegiate Outing Club Association's camcraft meet. The movie shows canoeing, chopping and other aspects of the competition.

There will be a square dance following the films and ordinary dancing to recordings. Also, during the course of the evening, there will be a vigorous MOC sing-song.

Members and non-members are welcome. The party is being held especially for those who have not had a chance to spend a weekend at the MOC house in Shawbridge.

The admission price is 50c per person and proceeds will go to the MOC Public Address System Fund.

Statement By . . .

L.P.P. Executive

At approximately 6 p.m. yesterday evening, the Chairman of the McGill L.P.P. Club was presented with a statement of the Union House Committee, forbidding the use of the Union facilities to the club for the remainder of the school term. The ostensible reason for this unprecedented action was the sale by three members of the club of a labour weekly, the Canadian Tribune, on the steps of the McGill Union at noon-hour last Monday.

The Executive of the McGill L.P.P. Club is issuing this official statement in order to acquaint the student body with what it believes to be the facts of the case.

This Executive wishes categorically to deny that the aforementioned sale of the Canadian Tribune by three club members was an action of club policy designed to violate the rulings of the Union House Committee.

The sale was the individual action of the three students concerned, and we challenge the Union House Committee to produce any evidence in support of its contention to the contrary.

This action, denying to a campus club the facilities of the union, is tantamount to a ban on its activities. It is an ominous sign that such action should be taken without giving any opportunity to the accused club of a hearing before the Union House Committee in its own defence.

This action is one of far wider implications than those which might be inferred from the reasons given by the Union House Committee. Perhaps the best indication of the truth of this can be drawn from the inspired and malicious article which appeared in yesterday's Star. This article quotes "McGill student leaders" who it says, "being greatly embarrassed by L.P.P. Club tactics on the Campus are planning to outlaw this group."

What is the only example of such "embarrassment" which the article cites? The sale of the Tribune on Union property? No! The example cited is yesterday's meeting of the club at which the guest speaker, John Switzman, spoke on the Padlock Law and Civil Liberties.

We regard this violation of the rights of an accredited student club freely to assemble and discuss questions of interest to them and

PRE-MEDICAL SOCIETY

On Monday, Feb. 7, 1949, there will be a meeting of the Pre-Medical Society in Lecture Room "A" of the Medical Building at 5.15 p.m. Guest speaker will be Dr. Campbell Gardner, prominent surgeon who held a high post in the service during the war.

Fifty Society Pins have been ordered, and the treasurer will take orders for pins at the meeting on Monday.

The choir will begin rehearsing its new repertoire for final performance of the year this evening at 7.00 p.m. All voices are needed and members are urged to attend this opening rehearsal.

Mc Gill Beaten In Debate with Osgoode Hall

Osgoode Hall defeated McGill in a debate held in the Grill Room of the Union yesterday.

Barry Pepper and Bill Allen of Osgoode Hall upheld, the affirmative side of the debate which was entitled: "Resolved that the Privy Council be Maintained as the Final Court of Appeal for Canada."

The debate was sponsored by the McGill Debating Society which was represented by Gilles Trahan and Ben Lubell. The debate was judged by Mr. William Parry who is the former chairman of the Speaking Club of the Young Men's Section of the Montreal Board of Trade.

The affirmative began with Bill Allen who spoke of the unfair situation which is accorded Quebec in the Supreme Court. This he contrasted with Privy Council judges whose legal training is of a fairer nature.

Ben Lubell of McGill, the first speaker for the negative, stressed the independence of Canada and said that the Privy Council was established for the colonies and that Canada is no longer a colony.

The affirmative speaker, Barry Pepper countered with the argument that Canada's bond to Britain would aid her in her struggle for world leadership.

Gilles Trahan, the other McGill debater, said in his argument that the Supreme Court was close enough to any issue which might arise to have more than a remote interest in the situation and this would help in a just decision.

The rebuttal by Bill Allen mentioned that we have had the power to abolish the Privy Council as an appeal court for Canada since 1931 but it has not been seen fit to do so until 1947.

Dave Rubenstein acted as chairman.

Law to Debate Arts & Science Today in Union

The faculty of Law will debate with Arts and Science today at 1 p.m. in the Union New Room on the resolution that voting should be made compulsory in Canada. Such issues as the lassitude of Canadian voters will be discussed.

The lawyers, who will uphold the affirmative, will be Charles Phelan, who was an I.U.D.L. debater for Loyola before, coming to McGill this year, and John White, also a very experienced debater.

Arts and Science will be represented by Gerald Charness, Bovey Shield finalist this year, and Mel Rothman, second year debating representative in the Arts and Science Debating Society.

Sidney Phillips, one of McGill's now famous three debaters, who recently toured Great Britain, will be the judge.

This debate is one of a regular weekly series in the Inter-Faculty League which are held every Thursday in the New Room.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Students writing "Letters to the Editor" are reminded that letters must not exceed approximately 300 words in length. In recent editions the editors have been reluctant to enforce the word limit on letters dealing with timely topics, but some people have taken advantage of and sent in letters over 1,000 words in length. The letters section is provided for students who wish to convey an opinion or opinions to the entire student body — if one student writes an extremely long letter, then others must be kept out of print for a later edition. By all means write your letters but keep them brief. Hereafter letters exceeding the word limit will be returned to the writer for condensation. Writers wishing to have letters printed under a pseudonym must establish their identity with the managing board. — ED.

The McGill L.P.P. Club has been denied the use of the McGill Union for a period of five months effective as of noon today. Lionel Albert, President of the L.P.P. Club, was informed of this decision by Jack Crepeau, President of the McGill Union, at 6 p.m. yesterday afternoon.

Later in the evening the Student Executive Council voted to suspend the L.P.P. Club temporarily pending investigation of the charges levelled against them. The committee named consists of Colin McCallum, chairman, Betty Sinclair, Jack Crepeau, Fred Cleman, and Isabel Gibbs.

Following is the text of the motion passed by the Union House Committee:

At a meeting of the Union House Committee held on Monday, January 31st, the following motion was passed:

WHEREAS for over a year the Union House Committee has repeatedly reiterated its ruling prohibiting the sale and distribution of periodicals and pamphlets on Union property without authorization,

WHEREAS for over a year the Union restated the ruling in a statement in reply to Miss Penner's letter, and published in the McGill Daily on December 8th, 1948, and this, therefore, constituting a fair warning to all students on the campus,

WHEREAS there is sufficient proof to believe that it is a definite and established policy of the McGill L.P.P. Club to have the Canadian Tribune sold or distributed on the campus,

WHEREAS it is impossible for the Union House Committee to fulfill its purpose unless its rules and regulations are adhered to,

WHEREAS the President of the L.P.P. Club and two other prominent members of the same club did unlawfully sell the Canadian Tribune at noon, January 31st, on McGill Union premises,

WHEREAS there is sufficient proof to believe that the aforementioned members of the McGill L.P.P. Club did violate the above mentioned ruling admittedly without respect for authority, and as a matter of club policy,

THEREFORE the Union House Committee hereby declares that the L.P.P. Club be denied the facilities of the McGill Union for a period of five months.

This motion is to become effective at noon Thursday, Feb. 3rd, 1949.

(Signed) J. E. CREPEAU, President, McGill Union
Following is the text of the Resolution passed last night by the Students Executive Council:

Be it resolved that whereas the Union House Committee has reported that it has found it necessary to take disciplinary action against the McGill L.P.P. Club, the constitution of the McGill L.P.P. Club is hereby suspended pending investigation of their alleged misdeeds.

Commerce Society Banquet Feb. 10

A banquet has been planned by the Commerce Undergraduate Society to be held in the Union Grill Room, Thursday Feb. 10th.

Last year, two similar banquets were held and were climaxed by FREE beer. A good meal will be provided at the cost of seventy-five cents and again the beer will be free. All those present will hear as the guest speaker, Mr. Max Ford, a graduate of McGill, who is reported to be one of the wittiest after-dinner speakers in Montreal.

The executive, under President Ted Blake, has been working to make this banquet a success. Mel Dultz, has taken time out from the Red and White Revue to do his duty as Vice President. Clive Reade, the Secretary, is acting as Publicity Manager and the Treasurer, Eric Barry, is handling the business end of the affair.

First Inter-Varsity Debate To Take Place Thursday

Two debating teams from McGill have been entered in the elimination competition of the Inter-University Debating Team. Bill Archer and Len Beaton have been paired for the negative side while Roland LaPrairie and Peter Sinclair will argue the affirmative side. The competition opens this Thursday when Loyola visits McGill. This debate will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday night in the Ballroom of the Union.

At the same time Beaton and Archer will travel to Lennoxville to exchange arguments with the representatives of Bishop's College. If the McGills are successful in the first round they will continue in the sudden death elimination against the other members of the I.U.D.L. They are Ottawa University, McMaster University, Queen's University, Western University and St. Patrick's College.

The winners of the I.U.D.L. competition advance into competition for the Dominion debating crown. The four members of the McGill team were all semi-finalists in the Trials held before Christmas to pick the representatives for the British Tour.

THE LPP AND THE UNION

One of the most important aspects of our social organization is the provision for rules and regulations, and for disciplinary action. At noon today, the Union House Committee will enforce a disciplinary action—an action taken in judgment of an alleged breach of regulation.

The Labor Progressive Club will be denied the facilities of the Union for a period of five months, which means simply that they cannot meet in the Union for the balance of the term.

The Students' Executive Council has suspended the constitution of the group and formed an investigation committee.

This is a normal and fair procedure. It is in keeping with established precedent, and will permit both the accused and the accusers to have a fair say on this action.

The temporary suspension is one aspect that may invite controversy, but it is minor. For the action of the Union House Committee, as the action of a responsible group—independently elected by a large proportion of the student body, is not to be taken casually.

The report of the investigation committee should indicate answers to important questions—Can a group as a whole be dissociated from the actions of responsible leaders? Is the distribution of pamphlets and the sale of publications in the manner which provoked the Union House Committee a matter of club policy?

There is one important point to consider. The Council has no jurisdiction other than financial over the administrative policies of the Union House Committee. They cannot then reverse the ruling of the Union. If they wish, they may express support or censure.

Their interest in this situation should be to consider the campus-wide implications of this action—to try and determine, for example, whether the LPP group has violated SEC rulings applying to the campus (i.e. distributing literature on the campus without proper authorization), as has been suggested privately and semi-privately on a number of occasions.

One aspect all persons concerned must be particularly careful with is the political views of the L.P.P. group. For it has often been suggested that this club has served to co-ordinate the activities of the communists and marxists on campus, and to distribute propaganda.

Communism is a particularly touchy topic on this campus. The activities of a small group have received relatively wide publicity, and many a student feels that inclusion of the name McGill in noting the group has cast aspersions on him and his university.

It would be relatively simple to smear the group by simply calling "Commie," but that is not the discussion at hand. It is simply a question of rules and regulations, and such it should remain.

The student body expressed its views on communism at the last student society meeting, where a motion was passed with but five negative votes stating that they are opposed to every aspect of the communist dogma.

It is entirely possible that the committee may discover that it is only certain members of the LPP group who are at fault, and that it is the indiscretions of these few that has caused the penalty to the whole group. If such be the case, then it is the responsibility of the Labor Progressive Club to "clean house," and show the students that they are here as a study group—a law-abiding study group.

The L.P.P. Club on campus has been the topic of much coffee-housing and discussion in the past—but watch the fur fly now!—F. C.

A DENIAL, BUT

Below is a letter written to the president of the Students' Council by Dr. Watson Kirkconnell, president of Acadia University, in which Dr. Kirkconnell disclaims "a recent bogus press despatch, dated from Halifax and saying that I had charged Toronto University and McGill with being 'hotbeds of Communism'."

The McGill Daily accepts Dr. Kirkconnell's letter in good faith. We have sent a story on his denial of responsibility for the statement on "hotbeds of Communism" through the wire service of Canadian University Press.

We should like to point out, however, that we were as critical of his article in Saturday Night of January 18 as we were of the statement we said he was "reported" to have made in Halifax.

In our editorial last Monday, we said: "Saturday Night announced in a preface to the article that Dr. Kirkconnell had analyzed therein the report of the Labor Progressive Party University Students' Conference at Toronto last fall. Dr. Kirkconnell did not do such thing. He merely presented what he purports to be an L.P.P. document. If Dr. Kirkconnell had 'analyzed' the L.P.P. report, he would have given some concrete suggestions as to the strength of the L.P.P. Party at the various universities."

Dr. Kirkconnell opened his article in Saturday Night with these sentences: "What is the strategy of the Communists with regard to Canadian universities? How is that strategy succeeding?"

He follows these questions with the sug-

DR. KIRKCONNELL'S LETTER

The President,
Student's Administrative Council,
McGill University,
Montreal, P.Q.
Dear Sir:

Permit me to disclaim entirely a recent bogus press despatch dated from Halifax and saying that I had charged Toronto University and McGill with being "hotbeds of Communism." In no public address have I ever criticized any Canadian university in any terms whatever, and even in private conversation I have not been guilty of the alleged phraseology.

The source of the recent press item was a brief chance encounter with a young journalist in a Halifax corridor. He asked me if Toronto and McGill "were not hotbeds of Communism." I replied that while some Communists had long been active on both campuses and Communist "L.P.P. clubs" were openly organized at six Canadian universities (McGill, Toronto, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and U.B.C.), I questioned whether more than two per cent of the students were involved in any instance, and I urged him, if he wanted an authentic version, to consult a recent issue of Saturday Night, in which I had quoted from the Communists' own documentation on the subject.

Our whole conversation, which I assumed was private, did not last two minutes. The immediate sequel was a press despatch sent all across Canada crediting me with his own words, which I had just repudiated, and giving the impression that I had used them in a public address.

I have written to the Halifax press agencies, asking that this matter be set straight, in fairness to myself and to the two universities concerned. I am also sending a copy of this letter to "The McGill Daily," in the hope that it may receive as much publicity as the original canard, whose phraseology I deplore as much as anyone.

Your faithfully,
WATSON KIRKCONNELL.

To the Editor,
Quite confidentially — and unfortunately at this late date — did I come across your issue of Jan. 13. But I hope that the following comments, pertaining to an article on Garry Davis, called "Peace at Last?" will still be of interest to McGill students.

Garry Davis recently received a lot of publicity and has drawn attention to the idea of world citizenship and world government by the very bold act of renouncing his U.S. citizenship and declaring himself a citizen of the world. The French intellectuals, including Sartre and Camus, who are supporting him, the astonishing mass appeal he has had, and the attention given him by the international press indicate that what he says is at least worth noting. Miss Puvrez ends her very interesting report on his activities with these words: "Obviously, the movement for Garry Davis... is gaining momentum. Does it contain the hope for peace youth is now longing for?"

Those who believe that world government contains indeed the

Introduction

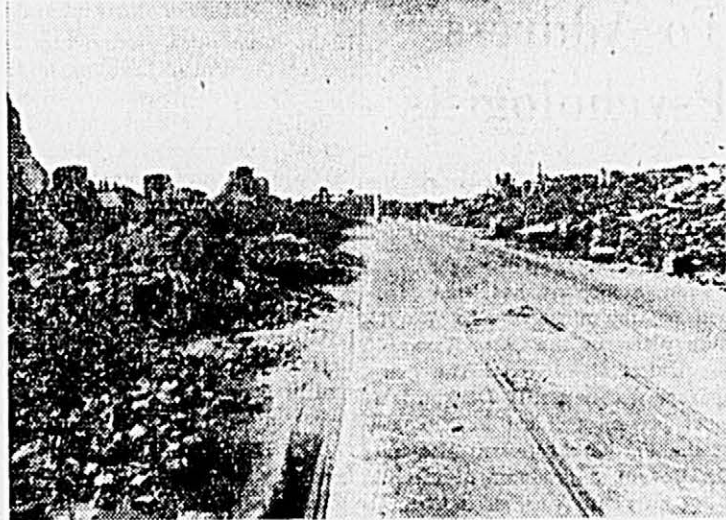

This is the third of a series of articles written by Clyde Kennedy who spent last summer in various parts of Europe. With Peter Scott, Manny Ghent, Dave Scheeter and Mary Stephens of McGill, he attended the International Summer Seminar at Ploen, near Kiel, in the British zone of Germany.

The seminar was sponsored by International Student Service of Canada and was financed by the provincial governments of Canada, the Canadian Council for Reconstruction through UNESCO, and the

He pointed out that German students were not generally interested in politics. This, he admitted, was a grave situation for now was the very time when they should be interested.

It was true that most of the students were older due to war service and naturally made the attainment of a degree their main concern. But he would not concede that the "textbook horizon" of the German student could be considered to be similar to that of many students in Great Britain and elsewhere.

"In England and elsewhere," he

British Control Commission of Germany.

It was attended by 50 students from 19 Canadian colleges and universities, 50 German students from universities in the three western zones of Germany and 40 students from 14 other countries.

In this article a Law student of Hamburg presents his views on the general outlook of German students.

A German Viewpoint

"I know many German professors and teachers who have purely childish judgment in international affairs," declared a law student of the University of Hamburg when he addressed the seminar. "They are ruled by law and primitive instincts."

Hans, as we shall call him, felt that many of the professors were of the same opinion as many German students—the individual must serve the state, the individual doesn't count. "For many Germans, even today, a well organized state is an autocratic police state with a strong army."

This opinion fortified the belief of the French students at the seminar that a too rapid economic recovery of Germany would mean a rebirth of extreme nationalism and all the evils that it implied.

Hans felt, however, that most German students realized the wickedness of the Nazi regime. "The majority of German students today are not Nazis but they are looking for something new," he said. "There is a grave danger that they will not find something new and will therefore seek a new dictator."

The Right Approach

"The only solution," declared Hans, "lies outside Germany. Germany must get into a broader united Europe. There must be a tolerable, positive attitude of other nations toward Germany."

The only thing that made him optimistic, he said, was that at international conferences such as the seminar young people were interested in finding a solution. Such seminars, he said, were approaching the German problem at the right place for the universities had been the springboards of strong nationalism and Nazism.

said, "if a student takes no active interest in politics it is because he has no doubt about his democratic way of life. If a German student says he doesn't care about politics the reason goes beyond a pre-occupation with an effort to make up for lost time in getting an education."

Obedience a Creed

"German students know politics only as a fight for power—not as a science of living together," he said, as he traced the history of politics in Germany from 1870 onwards. "Too many students believe in obedience as a creed."

The first political impressions of the older students came during the last years of the Weimar Republic, he declared. At that time there were frequent changes of government and it was not possible to get a majority to have laws passed in a constitutional way.

"At the same time, there was great economic difficulty, with more than seven million unemployed. A very active propaganda against the Treaty of Versailles had a great influence upon the outlook of the students."

"German students are still of the opinion that the only way to get rid of Versailles was to elect Hitler. Very few young people know the facts even today—they are not being told."

Nationalistic Teachers

"You have to remember," he continued, "that it was dangerous for parents to tell their children anything against Hitler. And the secondary school teachers saw to it that the children were steeped in propaganda about the might and right of Germany. The secondary school teachers of Germany are famous for their extreme nationalistic outlook."

"After great tribulations during the long war years, they are suddenly told that all this was wrong. Consequently they are disillusioned and embittered."

"The occupation forces have made a great blunder by they brought democracy. They brought democracy of a military type."

Democracy, he pointed out, hadn't flourished on empty stomachs. The students were quick to reflect upon a short story

by G. Puvrez

"I have decided to write this story because nobody ever believes me when I tell it. The people laugh at me even when I make an allusion to it. 'We've heard it all,' they say."

"Maybe if I were young and beautiful everybody would listen to me and even beg me to retell my story. But that can happen to an old maid of sixty-seven weighing a hundred and sixty-two pounds seems just unbelievable."

"Whatever you may think of it, I uphold that this story is true and that I could prove it. I did not dream it. It was foggy that night and rather cold as I remember. Just as it is tonight, that is why I feel like going out again. But I'll write this story first for who knows what might happen."

"I had paid a visit to my niece who lives on a farm not far from my place and it was around eleven thirty when I took my way home. I was neither sleepy nor tired. (My niece had served me a cup of strong coffee during the evening). Emmy, that is my niece, had offered me a sofa on which to spend the rest of the night. But you know when one reaches my age one likes comfort so I declined the offer and resolved to walk home. It was only a ten minute walk taking the short-cut across the meadows."

"As I was on my way the fog seemed to dense a bit so I walked faster. Unluckily when I crossed a fence I fell down and I soon realized that I had sprained my ankle. I forced myself to walk on, for now my niece's home was too far back, and I could not return. After a few yards I had to stop for my ankle was hurting too much. I sat down on a felled tree. Then suddenly I heard the galloping of a horse. I was very much afraid for the noise seemed to come from above my head. I think that I shouted aloud. The horse stopped right in front of me and I saw that it was drawing a carriage of the same type as those that you see in the museums. The door of this carriage opened and I saw a man leaning out of it in my direction. This was Bob's very face, and I felt just as I did over forty-five years ago. He said: 'Do you recognize me? Haven't you forgotten me?' And as he said these words he beckoned me to step inside the carriage. I sat beside him and we rode along together. I felt suddenly that he was holding my arm and that it was very pleasant for me."

"As I write this I can see everybody laughing at me. But if they do it is because they have not understood me."

"Bob had been my lover years ago and he had come a long way to see me. He asked me to tell him all my life since we left each other. He even asked me about Emmy whom he did not know was married and had children. He seemed very much pleased and he said: 'Now I know that I was right to come back.' And I told him 'Yes, I realize that I have always been waiting for you to come back.' Then he told me that he had to leave and he had me promise that I would go home and wait for him. I have not seen him since then. It is certainly because he did not find my house but I am sure he will be back to get me. I feel that I will see him tonight; therefore I will go."

Inter-Hoopsters Defeated; Loyola Vanquishes Dawson

Dawson Dynamoos Drop Puck Contest With Loyola Squad

By JACK RICHER

Last night in a return match with Loyola College, the Dawson Dynamoos lost their first league game of the season by a score of 8-3 at Loyola Stadium. Dodge starred for the Loyola squad scoring four goals and drawing one assist.

Loyola broke into the lead early in the first frame, scoring three goals in the first seven minutes. The Maroon and White squad had the play over Bill Ransom's Dynamoos throughout the period, Dawson taking only one shot on Loyola's goale, B. Harold.

After one minute of play in the second period, edge of Loyola was banished to the "sin-bin". In an attempt to regain their three points, Dawson led five forwards but failed to tally. Loyola came back to score four goals within a minute and a half. Dawson then came to life for a few seconds, Lauren scoring on a pass from Enslinch. Loyola reciprocated with another goal, leaving the score 8-1 at the end of the period.

Dawson came into the third period with renewed spirit. Sparked by George Valois, they held Loyola scoreless and countered twice, Mitchell and Beaudoin scoring.

Zemel and Enslinch played a steady defensive game for the Dynamoos, stopping repeated Loyola attacks.

One of the incidents of the game took place in the dying seconds when Beaudoin, on a breakaway, managed to get the puck in behind the Loyola netminder. However, the referee discounted the goal at the time and it was only at the end of the game that the Dawson team was informed that the goal had counted, the referee having reversed his decision after a conference with the goal-judge.

The Dynamoos will see action again tonight when they meet Sir George for the second time, having had a combined practice with them before Christmas. At that time, the Dynamoos, due to their lack of practices, proved inferior to the well-organized Sir George team. However, weather conditions since then have enabled the Dawsonites to have a sufficient number of practices and their tilt tonight will be no walkaway for either team. The game is scheduled to take place on Dawson's home ice at 8:00 p.m.

Dawson Senior Basketballers Play Eastwards

A filling in their schedule during a brief lull in M.B.L. cage activity, the Dawson Seniors will attempt to sharpen their play in an exhibition contest against the Eastward Boys Club of Montreal tonight in Orlick Gym.

Eastward has played against some of the other teams in the Senior League and, although they have not won any of these contests, they have always managed to keep the opponents working all the way through.

Tonight will mark a new era in Dawson basketball this year because of the changes in the Red and Blue lineup. Coach Bill Naves has announced that tall George Flumerfelt will be on the roster for this tilt along with another new addition, Carl Totke. Flumerfelt played for Tevze Armstrong on the Dawson squad last year and Totke comes up from the Intermediate team where he has starred all season. These two men will replace lanky Louis Milburn who has left the team and shifty Jack Nikolaidis who also left due to pressure of studies.

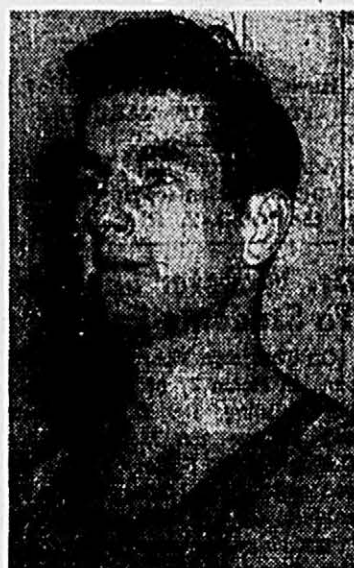

Game time is 8:00 p.m.

McGill Senior Skiers Fly to Meet at Banff

Coach Vic Allen's ski team took to the air last night, en route to Banff, Alberta, for the International Intercollegiate Ski Meet to be held on Mount Morquay this weekend.

Heading the McGill list of contestants is captain Bruce Fleming. Bruce is well known in local ski circles as well as out West. Last year, he ranked second in the Downhill event of the Dominion Championship Meet held at Banff, on the same slope Mt. Norquay, that is being used again this year. Fleming's knowledge of the course, added to his wealth of skiing ex-

Alberta Bears Take Lead in Western Series

Saskatoon — (C.U.P.) — A four-goal outburst by the University of Saskatchewan Huskies in the last four minutes failed to stop Alberta's Golden Bears from counting a 7-6 win in the fifth game of the best-of-seven series for the Western Canada intercollegiate Hockey championship. Bears now lead the series three games to one with one game tied. Sixth game will be played in Edmonton February 12th.

THOMAS
Former National Leaguer Cy. Thomas led the Albertans with three lone goals. Huskies Art Meyer garnered two goals and an assist with defenceman Roy Perrin scoring one and helping with two others. Bears' other four markers were tallied by Vic Kuzyk, Bob Fleming, George Parker and Jack Causegrove. Scott Sherriff and Jim Adolph each dented the twine once for Saskatchewan. Ten minor penalties were handed out in the rugged contest with the rough-and-ready Golden Bears drawing seven sentences Huskies three.

Huskie netminder, Bud McPhee picked up an assist in the first period on Perrin's goal after laying down a red line pass.

Golden Bears next games are in Colorado Springs, February 4th and 5th. Huskies meet Prince Albert senior Monarchs here February 2nd, and then return to Prince Albert February 5th, along with 500 students on the annual hockey excursion.

Take It From Eve

Eve

Everybody is talking about the weather, seems they haven't much else to gab about, even in Barb's column with a phoney weather forecast ... and No picture ... terrible, isn't it? Anyway, the hockey team is happy.

PUCKSTERS

The hockey club turned out in full force to the last practice — seems they have a new coach, "Toasty" MacLeod, a fourth-year Phys. Ed. student, known to all as "Mac." I hear he really put those gals through their paces for a full two hours last Saturday morning to put them in training, for the oncoming match that is to be played this Saturday against MacDonal College. Ten A.M. is the time of the match. The team will be chosen this week from all those who have turned out to practices, 22 in number. The Wednesday afternoon practices had to be cancelled due to conflicts with time-tables, but the rink will still be available every Tuesday afternoon from 3 until 5, and anyone who wishes to practice there to their hearts content.

VICTORIES

The Rifle Club has just made a big conquest of which they are very proud. A team from the McGill Women's Rifle Club shot an unscheduled match with the "34 White" team last Tuesday evening. There were seven on the McGill team, only one of which had ever shot in a match before, Mary Rowlands. The "34 White" team is made up for the most part of experienced members such as Mr. Curtis, who is secretary of the Province of Quebec Rifle Association. The McGill team won with a score of three to one. Those who won for McGill were: Mary Rowlands, Sheila MacQuilly, Grace Hogg, Connie Butlinger, Lynn Lefevre, Lorna Hutchison, and Pam Thompson.

BADMINTON

The Singles Elimination Tournament played last week, was won by Betty Evans who eased Bliss Matthews out of that coveted position. Betty along with her partner, Mary, Tucker, also took the Doubles Elimination Tournament, and again Bliss Matthews was forced to be runner-up ... that is, she and Lois Preston.

ARCHERY

Mention has been made previously to the effect that there were rumors going around that there would be a Beginners Tournament against MacDonald College. It has been learned from official sources the house this week-end. Ski instruction will be given at Shawbridge on Sunday.

A skating party, followed by cocoa will be held at Shawbridge Saturday night. The ice should be excellent so don't forget your skates. Friday is the night for our long-awaited get-together in the Union Ballroom; movies and square dancing will be the main attractions. Like most MOC affairs it is stag, of course.

Gord Knutson, Dent Student, Wins Honours

By BOB BORNSTEIN

McGill has hit the headlines again. Dentistry student Gordie Knutson has been chosen all-star centre of the Junior Amateur Hockey Association it was announced recently. The lanky westerner, who toils for the Montreal Royal Juniors, beat out little Frankie Reid of Three Rivers Reds for the pivot spot and the dream team, chosen by a board of 15 experts.

The Regina-born star has impressed local observers to such an extent that when the Royal Seniors became shorthanded owing to a series of injuries among their regulars, he was immediately promoted as a replacement. Knutson's showing in his brief senior appearance was good enough to cause followers of the Royals to comment that he was worthy of sticking with the latter.

Knutson, currently among the high scorers of the league, performs on a line with Dickie Moore and Matt Benoit, and this threesome is regarded as Tag Millar's number one attacking unit.

The blonde pivot stands close to six feet tall and is one of the outstanding puck manipulators in the that this is the case and the meet has been scheduled to take place on Saturday, Feb. 12. However, this is only tentative and will depend on whether both the teams are prepared. The manager, Betty Watt, would like the following people to turn out for the practice this Friday afternoon from 3 to 6, if at all possible: Madeleine Lee, Lenore Griffin, Cynthia Scott, Heather and Ann McLeish, Dorothy Ross and Therese Lee. Any other beginners who would like to try out for this team.

BASKETBALL

There has been a lot of action in the basketball world in the past week or so. Last Wednesday the N.D.G. 'Y' beat our Junior Two team, its first loss of the season. However, this team has still lots of chance left to be victors in its section, for they won a great victory over their arch rival Sir George Williams last Monday night with a score of 19-5. This was one game of a double-header, but the other half does not make such good news, as Sir George overcame the other Junior team by 25-18. This was Junior One's first setback, so they too still have hopes for the championship of their section.

Saturday night, prior to the Boy's Intercollegiate match, the two Senior Co-ed Teams played against each other and McGill. Number One Team took the Number Two Team 26-18. In spite of the score, it was a closely fought battle all the way. This puts the Senior One Team on top of the heap with only one loss and determines them as winners of the Senior Section of the W.O.B.L. Macdonald, the Y.W., and Senior Two of McGill still have to battle it out for second place. This Saturday, Feb. 5th, the Senior Two team will leave for Macdonald at 1:15 from Windsor, a double-header to be supplied by our own Junior One Team against Mac's Junior entry.

The intercollegiate hopefuls have been whittled down to seventeen, the sure twelve to be chosen by the end of the week. The Tryouts consist of seven Phys. Eds., four of which will be taken and ten Arts and Science types, eight of which will make the grade. It is getting pretty exciting and the positions seem to belong to anyone, who we cannot predict and we can glean nothing from the coach. Maybe Friday...

Maybe now there is some important news, somebody will read your column Barb, evidently they read mine or they wouldn't have gotten so far!

Knutson is not the only McGillian making a name for himself in local hockey circles. Cliff Malone is probably the best known. At present he is the leading point-getter of the Royal Seniors and keeps

McGill Intermediate Cagers Defeated by Carabin Hoopsters

By LEN WISSE

Hale, Atkinson May Play in Carabin Game

Things are looking up for the Redshirts. It is more than a possibility that both Jimmy Atkinson and Tommy Hale, the ailing forwards who have been sidelined for over a week, will be back in action for the important Carabin game on Feb. 12.

Hale suffered a broken bone in his hand in a game at Toronto last Jan. 21st, and Atkinson has been confined to bed with a case of jaundice. Atkinson has recuperated sufficiently to enable him to practice with the squad today. Hale's hand is expected to be healed by the time the U. of M. fixture rolls around.

So it looks like the breaks are at last starting to favor the Red and White. With three straight wins tucked away under their belts, the boys hope to continue this streak at the expense of the High-Flying Frenchmen.

In the meantime, Dave Campbell's Redshirts will not be idle. The team will journey to Lachute Monday night for an exhibition game there. Then they'll move on to Hanover, New Hampshire for a clash with Dartmouth in the feature event of the Dartmouth Winter Carnival next Thursday.

Coach Campbell is not letting up on the boys despite the lull in intercollegiate activity for McGill. He'll have his charges going full steam in the exhibitions with Lachute and Dartmouth.

Thus far this season, McGill has boasted a superb exhibition record. The number one achievement was a 3-3 tie with the powerful Sherbrooke Saints of the Quebec Senior Hockey League. Also on the list are overwhelming victories over Harvard, 14-0, and Lake Placid Roamers in a three game sweep, 7-3, 7-2 and 6-1.

The games with Lachute and Dartmouth will give Campbell a chance to settle the goalkeeping situation once and for all. On the basis of his showing against Queen's, it looks like Tony Dobell has nailed down the job, but this is not definite.

Conditioning classes are now being held Mondays and Wednesdays at 4:00 p.m. in the Small Gym.

These classes consist of a variety of exercises and games planned for the man who is not at present getting regular exercise in some other form.

If you have a free period at 4:00 p.m. on Monday or Wednesday come up to the gym and see how much better you will feel after a short workout.

MIXED BADMINTON

Mixed badminton at the Currie Gym this week will be on Saturday, 7:00 to 10:30 p.m. rather than Thursday. All courts will be available Saturday night, Feb. 5.

The scheduled match in the Murray League between McGill Men's Team and the C.P.R.A.A. will be played in the small gym Thursday, as planned.

Pouliot Retains Intramural Fencing Championship

McGill fencers clashed in their annual intramural tournament last Saturday afternoon, and finished off in Sabre, Monday evening. Georges Aimes Pouliot retained his crown and the George Tully Trophy by placing first in all three weapon events, and winning the maximum 15 points. Pouliot was in excellent form on Saturday afternoon winning all of his bouts in foil and epee. On Monday night he arrived late, and was forced to fence off five consecutive sabre bouts without a rest. In spite of this, Georges warmed up to his superb style with four fast wins. Tying for second place, were Mike Ellwood and Cordozo with seven points each. Mike dropped slightly in epee, but picked up points by an excellent showing in foil and sabre. Leherer ran a close third with six points. Both Cordozo and Leherer are newcomers to McGill this year, bringing with them considerable experience in assault-arms from the United States. These four men will compose the McGill team in the coming inter-collegiate bout with Versity.

With such an excellent team, Coach George Tully feels confident that we will regain the fencing trophy dropped to Versity last year after a three year stop at McGill. Results of the bouts are listed below:

SEC CHOOSE FIVE FINALISTS FOR CARNIVAL QUEEN

Student Vote Will Decide Queen on Monday Feb. 14; To Be Revealed by Houde

After over two hours deliberation yesterday afternoon, the S.E.C. finally succeeded in cutting down the list of 26 gorgeous girls that had been nominated by McGill students for the position of Winter Carnival Queen of 1949.

The girls convened at a tea in the New Room of the Union at four o'clock, and at approximately six-fifteen, the S.E.C., after considerable debate, announced the five winners of the initial Queen contest—Gay Elkington; Beryl Dickinson-Dash; Mercia Forde; Pego Macnaughton and Cynthia Powell. They were picked on the basis of personality, physical attractiveness and photographic quality.

Gay Elkington, a blonde beauty of 19 years of age, is in B.A. 3 and is a native of Victoria, B.C. Athletically inclined, Gay had planned to be a member of the "Carnival Cadettes" skating chorus line.

Beryl Dickinson-Dash, a Montrealer, is 20 years old and is in Arts 3. She is a member of the Newman Club and B.W.I. Society at McGill. Mercia Forde hails from Australia, her father being Australia High Commissioner in Ottawa. She is 19 and is in Arts 2 as well as a member of the Newman Club and Choral Society.

Pego Macnaughton, a Montreal girl, is 19 and is in second year Arts. She also was in the skating chorus line for the Carnival until she became one of the "chosen five".

Cynthia Powell, already known to McGill students through her skiing prowess is also a Montrealer. She is twenty years old and is in Arts 4. Cynthia, a member of the famous Athletics Night chorus line hopes to qualify for the McGill ski team this year.

"The choice was indeed a hard one to make," stated Student Society President Bob Gill, after it was all over. "There were twenty-six very attractive girls here this afternoon and at first we couldn't see how we could possibly cut the list to five. I feel one thing must be said for the students of McGill—they know pretty girls when they see them."

Of these five girls, one will be chosen Carnival Queen by a student vote to be held on Monday, Feb. 14. The other four "princesses" will act as her attendants during the four-day festival. For the next two weeks and especially during the Carnival, they will be exposed to endless publicity.

Their private lives have come to an end. Newspaper reporters, photographers and newsreelers will hound them continuously. The only hope for peace (until all men become angels), find themselves in the company of many illustrious figures from all continents, and of a far greater number of "ordinary" people as is usually believed. Speaking about the urgent necessity for achieving world government, Sir Stafford Cripps said in a speech in 1946: "It is essentially a job in which the driving power must come from the common men and women all over the world."

Gerry Davis is by no means alone, nor did he start all the movements for world government that have sprung up spontaneously in recent years in one country after another. Today, they are coordinated under the "World Movement for World Federal Government," of which Sir John Boyd Orr is the president. Youth and student sections belong to the "World Student Federalists." These movements exist in 25 countries and are beginning to gain ground in India, the Middle East, China and Africa. They are gaining momentum.

peak will be reached when they appear on a moving throne on the Forum ice on Friday, Feb. 18, for the coronation. Surrounded by an air of pomp and glory, the crowning of the Carnival Queen will be colorful and ceremonious, befitting such an event.

Mr. John Switzman LPP Guest Speaker

The L.P.P. Club held a meeting last night in the Union Ballroom. The guest speaker, Mr. John Switzman, was introduced by the club president, Lionel Albert. Mr. Switzman, who was recently evicted from his home under the Quebec Padlock Law, spoke on his eviction and on Civil Liberties. In his speech he stated that he did not want sympathy as an individual, but that he wanted to inform people of the significance of Duplessis' latest raid. In closing his speech, Mr. Switzman declared that the Padlock Law was unconstitutional.

how better off they had been under nationalism. Other sore points, he said, were the confiscation of factories and "the situation in the French zone." Students could not find any excuse for the dismantling of watch factories in the French zone. "The natural answer of youth is that the democracies are not better than the National Socialists," he said, grimly.

CLOSE FIGURING
In duplicate bridge every hand is independent of all other hands. It is important to win the maximum or lose the minimum number of points on a deal in order to earn a good score in match points.

In the scramble for part score contracts, close figuring and tight defense are paramount. In today's deal the score of plus 200 was better than any offensive score the NS pair could win at their own price.

The business doubles by North are excellent. Since EW are vulnerable and NS not vulnerable it would seem that at least a two trick (plus 500) set was assured.

Actually it is questionable if South should leave in the double diamond on account of his meagre values. However, East's rescue solved South's problem of bidding, and if North could double hearts, South's heart holding would come in handy.

South led the spade deuce to North's Ace. East won the spade return and played a diamond which North won. South was put in with the club Ace and cashed the spade Queen. The last spade was ruffed in dummy with the heart nine and overruffed with the Jack. North having pitched a club on the spade Queen, now returned his last club which was won by dummy's King.

Declarer cashed a high diamond and came off dummy with a club. North "uppercut" with the heart eight and East was "doomed." He was forced to trump high and was now left with heart K Q 6 3 to South's heart A 7 4. Obviously South's seven spot was now promoted to a winner.

NS thus won 2 spades, 1 spade ruffed, 2 hearts, 1 diamond and 1 club to defeat the contract one trick for plus 200 points. This was a clear top score. As a matter of fact if EW had not entered the auction, it is highly probable that NS would have ended up losing points on the board. Their final contract would probably be 2 N.T. which is not easy.

of the team. Smith is a skier of the old Swiss school, and employs the Swiss method of skiing. The latter is a very smooth skier, probably the smoothest skier on the team, and certainly the best crowd-pleaser as far as style is concerned. Graves decided to go on the trip just a little while before the plane took off for Banff.

Placement Service Notes

Each Thurs. the Daily will have news of placement activities. Its main purpose is to keep students advised of current employment opportunities.

Permanent Employment
Company Visits: some students are still missing interviews with company representatives because they overlook the notices posted on the various boards. The moral to this is: Watch your notice-board.

In most cases the company representative has not sufficient time at his disposal to see all interested candidates. Therefore, the first students to enter their names on the list are allotted the available space and have their choice of times. The lists are maintained in the Placement Service office. If you miss an interview, you may, of course, apply directly to the company but remember that a pre-employment interview is always necessary.

The following are some of the companies which have already paid recruiting visits:
Canadian General Electric, Engineers.
Dominion Oxygen Limited Engineers.
Dow Chemical, Science and Engineers.
Algoma Steel Corporation, Engineers.
Imperial Oil, Engineers and Commerce.
E. B. Eddy Co., Engineers.

Aluminum Co. of Canada, Engineers and Geologists.
Steel Co. of Canada, Engineers.
Gatineau Power Company Engineers.

There will be more on this next week.

Summer Employment
Many students have been asking Placement Service personnel if they should continue to look for summer jobs on their own, as well as register with this office. The answer is an emphatic "YES." Follow up your own leads and in the meantime rest assured that the Service will continue to make every effort to put you in contact with "THE" job.

One point that we should like to emphasize in particular... PLEASE remember to notify us if you get a job, whether on your own or through the Placement Service. Our records must be kept up-to-date, and only through your continual co-operation can this be done.

Students are also reminded that any lead provided through this office is CONFIDENTIAL and is not to be passed on to any other student. If any student has a general employment problem pertaining to summer work, and which they feel could be answered to advantage through the medium of this column, we would be delighted to comply.

Dr. Webster Speaks To Students Feb. 3

On Thursday, February 3, at 5:00 p.m., in Room 37 of the Engineering Building, Dr. E. C. Webster will address the McGill Student Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management. The subject of his address will be, "Psychology in Industry." Dr. Webster, B.A., M.A., Ph.D. (McGill) Associate Professor in the Department of Psychology, has had fifteen years experience in the field of Industrial Psychology. At present he is Director of the McGill Personnel Appraisal Institute. All those interested in this aspect of industrial relations are invited to attend.

subjects. Light fiction, games, school books, and paperback or damaged volumes cannot be accepted.

The campus drive is being carried out through the McGill I.S.S. Committee. The Chairman urges all students to give every suitable volume they can spare, saying "The effective revival of the intellectual life of war-blighted countries is a matter of concern for the world and for every Canadian."

A successful March of Books can provide a valuable, practical contribution to that cause, and a tangible demonstration to the world that Canadians are determined to acknowledge and fulfill their international responsibility.

8 p.m. Cost will be 45c per person.
